

January 11, 2022

Dear Colleagues,

As we begin our spring semester, we invite staff and faculty to a town hall focusing on the University's COVID-19 response plans.

This meeting will be held on Thursday, January 13, from 4– 5 p.m. via Zoom Webinar.

This virtual town hall will include brief remarks from President Kevin Hallock, updates from members of the University's senior leadership, and a moderated Q&A session.

To join us for this meeting, register for the Zoom Webinar here. Please note that attendance is limited to the first 1,000 participants.

Staff and faculty are encouraged to submit questions in advance here. Attendees will also have an opportunity to submit questions during the meeting. We encourage you to share your questions ahead of the meeting so that we might frame our remarks to address as many questions as possible.

While we are hopeful that you can join us for this town hall, we understand that some may not be able to do so. If you are unable to attend and would like to view the meeting at a later time, a recorded version will be available on the University's COVID-19 response website following the event.

Thank you, and we look forward to seeing many of you this Thursday for our town hall.

Sincerely,

David Hale

Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer

Jeffrey Legro

Executive Vice President and Provost

Shannon Sinclair

Vice President and General Counsel, Chair, Resilience Working Group